AN EXAMPLE--As an example of the extent to which this evil of working on the credulity of the unsuspecting school teacher we have but to recall a case which occurred several years ago and which was worked on a large number of teachers' institutes throughout the State. Some smooth talking agents offered an encyclopedia and on terms most liberal and of such nature as to deceive many. A printed form was presented for the teacher to subscribe to the work. This form

A ROUND OF TALK.

A Kick About Kids.

When I was at the sore-toe stage the kids played about a pair of pants. Those shorts were too bad and short; but now they sport the "Buster Brown" or else the "Fauntleroy" and no one ever sees a sign of the good old-fashioned boy.

No kid would then dare to go a scant yard from his house.

Attired in patent leather belt and a much beruffled blouse;

and as for kids with sandals, where deep, heat, unmeasured joy.

One look at him would have aroused in the good old-fashioned boy?

The modern kid with his sawed-off socks and his fashion-plated shoes is a real value. It is said that over seventy-five per cent of the teachers in counties in Kentucky where the scheme was sprung were caught.

Public is Aroused

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal topic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach liver and kidneys. Mary B. Walters, of 546 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, O., writes: "For several months I was given up to die. I had fever andague my nerves were wrecked, I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctors' drugs that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief and in a short time I was entirely cured."

"Guaranteed at Haydon's drug store; price 50c."

A Milk Thief.

David Yocom, who lives on the Johnson place, near Cardwell, had a remarkable experience with a crowskinned snake last week. He has a fine cow which was in the habit of giving a gallon and a half of good, rich milk morning and evening. Suddenly from no apparent cause, the milk began to diminish until the famly got only a quart a day. The cow was in the habit of lingering in a certain part of the pasture each day, and Mr. Yocom thought he would watch to find out who was stealing his milk. The other morning he discovered a huge snake, seven feet long, wrapped around the cow's leg, and helping itself to the good fresh milk. He soon dispatched it with a heavy fence rail, and on holding a post mortem, he found the snake had breakfasted off of seventeen guinea eggs and about a gallon of new milk. But the strangest part of the circumstance was the grief and distress of the cow over the loss of her reptile friend. For several days she went regularly to the spot where she had fed the snake, and would stand and bawl for hours, as if calling for her calf. Gradually her grief lessened, and the flow of milk increased until now she is giving the usual quantity. Mr. Yocom skinned the snake and kept it as a curiosity--Harrodsburg Herald.

The County Teachers' Institutes

which are conducted in each county every year for the benefit of the teachers of the public schools are a good and necessary institution. The teachers are brought together for the purpose of being instructed in new methods and for the exchange of ideas and the teachers' institutes is all right but like many other good things there are often designed people all ready to take advantage of little opportunities offered by a teachers' institute to work a little game. In other words there is a graft to be stirred up most any day. We don't suppose that the late Washington County Teachers' Institute was any worse than others--in fact we have been told it was not bad as many--but it strikes us that it supported a number of little games on the side which might well have been dispensed with. We speak of these agents and solicitors for this and that book concern and other institutions who hang on around the teachers' institutes and button-hole the teachers and persuade them into subscribing their hard-earned dollars to some scheme which may or may not be a good thing, but which is certainly not necessary to the success of a teacher in his work. The law makes it compulsory on the teachers to attend the institute and each one is taxed his share for the expense of conducting the proceedings and we believe that they ought to be protected against these agents and hangers on.

Bridges to Try Four Kinds of Highways

Get the Best.

The test today is the greatest administration in Illinois—good roads and hard roads—is to be given a crucial test in Springfield in the near future says the New York American. In view of the situation the subject has attracted throughout the state it is expected the proposed experiments will be watched with keen interest.

After numerous conferences with Gov. John Peter Altgeld, good roads and A. N. Johnson of Washington, a federal road expert, have decided to construct a sample mile of road in Sixth Street, just outside the city, to be constructed of two thick men's hair rolled down to eight inches in thickness. The next quarter of a mile will consist of four inches of sandstone, all over the native shale.

The many friends here of Lieut. W. O. Reed will be glad to hear of some more good fortune which has befallen him. He has just been appointed adjutant of the troops in Yellow Stone National Park. Lieut.
Reed in writing of his good luck says: "I consider it the very nisiest appointment in the gift of the War Department." He goes on to say that he has been promoted and the Marshal was summoned.
While the house was almost surrounded with people the man went through the window into the house and escaped by letting himself down from a back window. It is supposed that while no one was in the house the man entered and went up stairs and passed through the window to the porch
room to wait until the household had retired for the night to rob
the house if such was his object.

SIR HENRY MORGAN, BUCCANEER

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY.

Author of "The Southerners," "For Love of Country," "The Grip of Honor," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY

What was this mystery about his birth? He had been picked up a baby in a deserted village outside of Panama. He had been found by the Count de Lara, who had led his troops to the rescue of the town. Sir Henry had been captured by the Spaniards, but he had escaped. He had reached only after the buccaneers had departed. Search had been made for his parents, but without success. His chief desire, however, was to return to his native land, but he had lost his name and had caused himself to be brought up in his own household. There was nothing in his appearance to distinguish him save the scar on his forehead.

When he had recovered his memory he had sought the advice of a physician, and learned that he was a boy of 18.

"I am a slave."

"I am a slave?"

"I am a slave?"
